

Alvimedica Heart Center

LECTURE SERIES

Alvimedica, the young and agile Europe based medical devices company devoted developing minimally-invasive medical technologies, has initiated construction of a Cardiological Research and Training Hospital, with the purpose of identifying and treating the most complex cardiological diseases. The hospital established in Split, Croatia, will provide the most advanced technological services in both training and treatment making it a truly unique heart center. Being built on a 11,000 square meter area and designed as a 54-bed facility equipped with the latest cutting edge technologies, Alvimedica Heart Center will start receiving patients by 2015.
